FIGHT BACK FOR BRITAIN! 15p

FREE JOE PEARCE!

Is Free Speech Dead In Britain?

FREE SPEECH suffered a set-back when Joe Pearce — Chairman of the National Front's Education & Training Department — was jailed for 12 months.

For Joe was found 'guilty' of breaking the anti-British Race Relations Act. The charges related to several issues of the National Front's former youth paper Bulldog.

Bulldog detailed many cases of Immigrant crime. The prosecution did not dispute the truth of what had been written. They just claimed that such comment was likely to 'incite racial hatred.'

In court, Joe stated that he wasn't the editor of Bulldog. However, he did stress that Bulldog had a right to pass comment on Immigrant crime. To silence such comment was a denial of free speech.

Whilst Joe is in jail, his wife Gina has to bring up their two young children on her own.

Every reasonable person must agree that the jailing of Joe Pearce is an outrage. Every day muggers, rapists and even murderers walk free from court with just a fine or a suspended sentence. Yet Joe has been locked away for a year just because Bulldog voiced opposition to Immigrant crime.

The National Front passionately believes in the right of free speech for everyone. Surely it can't be a 'crime' to highlight Immigrant crime. That's why we say: FREE SPEECH — FREE JOE PEARCE!

EVERY BRITON who believes in Free Speech should support Joe Pearce. All messages of support should be sent to: L25819 Pearce, Hut Cells, HMP Stanford Hill, Church Road, Eastchurch, Sheerness, Kent, ME12 4AA.

VIEWPOINT with Martin Wingfield

STILL FIGHTING FOR BRITAIN

sixteen year-old Tom Mundy off to serve his country.

ON 28th APRIL 1941, a sixteen year-old youth joined the Merchant Navy. Before he was 18 he had received 3 campaign medals, and by the time he had left the service on December 31st 1946 he had taken part in the invasion of North Africa and seen action on numerous Atlantic and Mediterranean Convoys.

That sixteen year-old youth, now sixty-one, has, for the last 12 years, remembered that time he served his country and those colleagues who lost their lives fighting for the freedom of these islands at the Annual National Front Remembrance Day Parade.

NF Directorate member, Tom Mundy, wears his medals proudly when the lays the National Front wreath at the Cenotaph at 3.00p.m. on Remembrance Sunday. He's laying that wreath on behalf of the thousands of ex-servicemen and women who are members of the National Front in Remembrance of their fallen colleagues.

STAND FOR MUCH

But apparently service to our country during the last war does not stand for much in the eyes of today's politicians.

Labour MP David Winnick wants the National Front's Remembrance Day Parade banned because he finds it 'provocative', while Conservative Home Secretary, Douglas Hurd, calls the parade 'an objectionable demonstration by latter-day Fascists'.

I wonder what our ex-servicemen and women make of such remarks? Remarks from two individuals from different political parties and different backgrounds who appear to have nothing in common except their distinguished record of non-service for this country.

I find it 'provocative' and 'objectionable' that these nonentities should choose to make such an attack on National Front ex-servicemen and women. Men and women who have distinguished themselves fighting for this country and now 45 years on are still standing up, protecting the British identity against the enemies within our country who are bent on destroying it.

Remembrance Day last year, Tom Mundy honours Britain's fallen heroes.

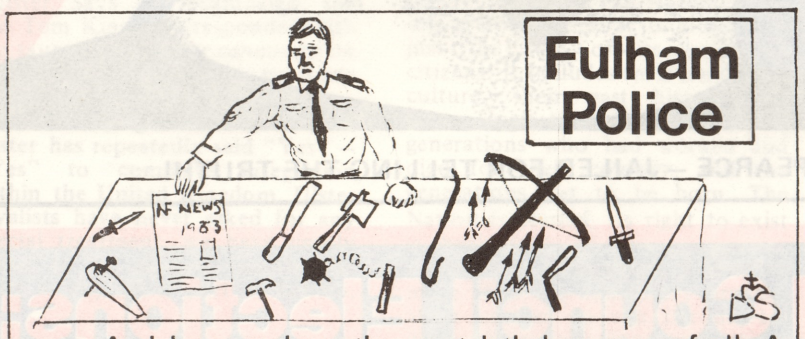
WHY? An open letter to Supt. Hedges of `Operation Own Goal´



. . . And here we have the most lethal weapon of all. A three-year old copy of NF News.

Dear Sir,

A pensioner telephoned me on the evening after your press conference unveiling the findings of your Operation Own Goal. He wanted to know why you had believed it necessary to destroy his hard work of the last eight months.

The gentleman concerned is a National Front member from Rotherhithe who has been spending two evenings each week campaigning on behalf of NF candidates in the forthcoming May Elections He now believes that much of the hard work he has done was destroyed in the three minutes TV coverage given to your Operation Own Goal.

I'm afraid I was unable to explain to him why you found it necessary to include the personal collection of NF literature of one of the suspects, with the list of weapons you seized.

I'm afraid I was unable to explain to him why you found it necessary to display a three year-old copy of NF News on the table along side those horrific weapons, or why a 'Stop Immigration, Start Repatriation' poster was also thought to be connected with the inquiries.

He wanted to know why, if NF literature was to relevant to the case, why wasn't it also relevant THAT AT LEAST ONE OF THOSE ARRESTED WAS BLACK! Again I'm afraid I couldn't answer his question.

In excess of thirty million people saw the news bulletins on Wednesday 26th March. Inspector Hedges, I wonder whether you would like to hazard a guess as to how many of those are now under the impression that the National Front is involved in organising soccer violence?

When I telephoned you on Wednesday 26th March, 20 minutes before you gave your briefing, you told me that there was no evidence to connect the NF with your investigations and you would be revealing that fact at the press briefing.

From the television, radio and newspaper reports of 'Operation Own Goal' it appears that this intended revelation slipped your mind.

Yours faithfully,

Martin Wingfield,
Chairman National Front.

 The Popplewell Inquiry cleared the National Front of any involvement in soccer violence. February's issue of* National Front News states, "The National Front says clamp down on muggers, football hooliganism and drug pushers. Stamp out thuggery and hooliganism. Restore law and order to our city streets." Ed.

FOCUS ON WEST YORKSHIRE

THE REAL REASON FOR LOW PAY

A REPORT published this month shows that workers in West Yorkshire are the lowest paid in the country. The report claims that unemployment is the major factor.

But surely, if unemployment was the primary reason for low pay then we could assume that Tyneside, Teeside, Merseyside, South Yorkshire and Clydeside would all be far worse than West Yorkshire because these regions all have higher levels of unemployment!

No, the real reason for workers in West Yorkshire being the lowest paid, 47% get less than what is recognised as a living wage, is the high Asian population.

During the 50's and 60's greedy textile mill owners imported thousands of Asians into the area to work in the mills in appalling conditions, for lower wages and longer hours than Yorkshire folk were prepared to work.

The traditionally weak and ineffective textile unions didn't lift a finger to protect its members interests, leaving the British workers with the situation where they have to accept the same low wage as their coloured counterparts or face the dole queue.

The evidence is there for all to see. The textile towns of Bradford, Huddersfield, Dewsbury, Batley and Keighley all have some of the highest levels of Asian settlement in the country.

ASIAN ATTACK

LATE LAST year in Keighley a group of about eighty white youngsters, sick of being treated like second class citizens in their own town, marched defiantly into Keighley's Asian sector chanting racialist slogans. There were a number of scuffles and some damage to property.

BLAMED

Local papers immediately blamed the National Front even though none of those taking part were NF members at the time.

What local papers are not reporting, however, are the persistent revenge attacks by Asians that have been taking place since that incident. One of the worst was when a group of Asians waited outside a Keighley school and attacked white children going home, severely injuring some of them. Behind that attack was the Militant Bradford Asian Youth Movement who were responsible for attacking Tory MP John Carlisle.

Keighley NF member, Chris Parker, said "These type of racial clashes we have seen in Keighley can only get worse. The Police very rarely prosecuted Asians in these circumstances".

CHANNEL

Chris Parker appealed to Keighley lads not to be provoked by these attacks and urged them to channel their anger into a political answer by starting up a National Front group in Keighley.

Think Tank Guns for Batley NF

A THINK tank has been set up in Batley to combat the National Front following an increase in activity by the local branch.

The think tank, an assortment of churchmen, councillors and social workers has vowed to 'smash' the National Front. A spokesman for the group, who was scared to be named, said, "If we are really committed to promoting a multi-racial society, then we must wage war on groups like the National Front".

Batley NF Organiser, Stephen Crabtree, had this message for the anti-British think tank, "People should think twice before they go around declaring war on the National Front, because it is a war we intend to win!"

WORRIED

Following hot on the heels of the above group being set up, came news that the Community Relations Council were also worried by the NF growth in Batley and Dewsbury and had urged its members to take action against the Front. A spokesman for the CRC (anonymous again) said "I've never seen so much NF propaganda and graffiti on the walls of our towns".

STEP–UP

Robert Peacock, who organises postering in the town was delighted with all the publicity given to the National Front (Front page headlines in the Batley News). He intends to step-up postering sessions but warned some Batley and Dewsbury NF members "We can only increase our postering activity if more members are prepared to help. Some members apparently prefer to watch TV or go to the pub than helping promote their local branch.

Robert Peacock also had a word for the member of the Community Relations Council who was worried by the NF propaganda . . . "TOUGH!"

Punchline

SOMEONE on the Batley Times has a real sense of humour.

Right under a front page article on the growth of the NF in the town appeared the following article.

Headed, 'Asians in Market Place Fight', the story ran "A clash between rival Asian sects brought Batley centre to a standstill . . . Saturday shoppers watched in amazement as over 300 chanting Asians brawled in the Market Place".

Maybe the Editor was giving an example of why the British people are looking to the National Front as the country's only hope.

STEP IT UP...

READERS of National Front News will know that we have been running two major propaganda campaigns.

One campaign has highlighted the case of Joe Pearce, who was jailed in December 1985 (under the anti-British Race Relations Act) simply for telling the Truth. The other campaign is being waged to defeat the Anglo-Irish Agreement and to secure Independence for Ulster.

In January, we kicked off both campaigns with a special, double 'front' page issue of NF News. Thousands of leaflets, posters and stickers were also distributed throughout Britain.

The February and March issues of NF News also heavily featured both campaigns. The March issue of NF News contained a British Ulsterman slip-sheet, which effectively spearheaded the Loyalist 'Operation UK' - the scheme whereby the Mainland is flooded with pro-Loyalist propaganda.

With this issue of NF News, we have returned to our highly popular and successful double 'front' page format. Again, both the FREE JOE PEARCE and INDEPENDENCE FOR ULSTER campaigns feature heavily.

But really we need to do much more than - on a monthly basis - highlight both campaigns.

In a few month's time, NF News will come out on a fortnightly basis. This will obviously aid our Cause. However, we still need to produce immediately, not thousands, but hundreds of thousands, of leaflets, posters, stickers and badges.

But to do all this will take money.

Therefore, the NF has decided to open two special accounts just for these two major campaigns. And, we estimate that to start to make a real impact, we need around £500 in each campaign account - that's a total of £1,000!

We are aware that Patriots afe always being asked to donate to one thing or another. But we are sure that all Patriots don't need reminding that the NF receives no financial backing from Big Business or the Trade Unions.

Please give as much as you can to help these two big campaigns. Remember, their ultimate success depends on you!

I ENCLOSE A DONATION OF £ . p TOWARDS THE 'FREE JOE PEARCE' CAMPAIGN/'SUPPORT ULSTER' CAMPAIGN. MAKE ALL CHEQUES/PO'S OUT TO 'NF' AND SEND TO: PO BOX 41, NORWICH, NORFOLK, NR3 2AH.

Thatcher ready to ditch improved B.L.

BRITISH LEYLAND which once had a reputation for shoddy workmanship, inefficiency and total imcompetence, has certainly been improving over the last few years. Jaguar cars which in the 1960's became notorious for all that was worst in British industry improved dramatically and it has now become a highly successful independent company.

The Austin-Rover division now produces a range of cars from the mini and the metro through to the big Rovers which can compare favourably with cars from the multinational giants like Ford and General Motors. BL has also got rid of a lot of foreign subsidiaries that they should never have built up in the first place.

There is, however, still an awful lot wrong with the firm – the relative loss of research and development capability which goes with the Honda link-up, the continuous state of war between elements within the management and the shop floor workers, and the inherent weakness of any British firm that has to compete against foreign imports from places like Spain, Yugoslavia and Poland where workers are paid far less. However, despite all this the quality and efficiency of the company have improved.

GIVE A DAMN

Now one would expect our plastic Boadicea, Margaret Thatcher, to praise the workers and the management for the progress that has been made and to make sure that the independence and continued success of the company is assured. But Maggie couldn't give a dämn for management or workers, she is only intent on building her own reptutation amongst the people with real power in the world today: the international financial community and their leading 'world figure' puppets like Reagan.

Consequently she is only too happy to go along with their ideas for preventing the emergence of a purely national vehicle industry in this country. So about a year ago she allowed the bosses of General Motors – the biggest multinational in the world – to look over British Leyland with a view to grabbing it and sucking it dry with the loss of tens of thousands of jobs.

The whole idea of a 'beneficial takeover' of Leyland Trucks and Land Rover is absurd from the word go. General Motors already have a range of Dodge trucks which are sold in this country. Obviously if they bought Leyland trucks they are hardly likely to keep similar ranges on the market – which means that factories would close down and jobs would be lost. While how long it is likely to be before Land Rovers, instead of being made in the Midlands are being built on licence in Detroit.

We are not the only ones saying that such a link-up would be disastrous for Britain. Mr Michael Kilby is conservative Euro–MP for Nottingham, he also worked for General Motors for over twenty years. In a recent statement he has claimed that if General Motors took over Leyland Trucks and Land Rover, it was "quite likely to abandon them if the United States interests dictated this".

He described General Motors' "Global Policy" as it would affect such a takeover.

"But I have regretfully to say that following the arrival of corporate planning teams and the establishment of global plans, the corporate decisions are not made in the interests of Europe and Britain, but in the interests of the corporation and the United States".

Hardly surprising, but coming from a former senior executive of General Motors it is a damning indictment on the existence of any multinational company, making it clear that national interests are of no consequence to these firms in their pursuit of massive profits at the expense of ordinary people.

Dole Queue looms as Jaguar falls to the Yanks

JAGUAR, the newly independent car company, released its results for its first year on 13th March – a profit of £121 million. This is a great tribute to the workers and the management of this company. At least part of this new attitude and resultant quality of product must be due to the fact that many Jaguar workers are also now shareholders with a direct stake in their company.

It therefore seems a terrible shame that Jaguar can no longer be regarded as an all-British firm. Along with the profit figures came the startling revelation that 40% of Jaguar shares are now owned by Americans.

Jaguar cannot be bought outright by the Americans until after 1990 but even until then they can continue to build up their shareholding. The next almost inevitable step is for Jaguar cars to be built, initially under licence, in America. That would leave 10,000 hard working proud British workers in Coventry consigned to the dole queue – but then that is the inevitable consequence of Thatcher's free market economy – the destruction of our industries and our nation.

THE BETRAYAL OF ULSTER GOES ON

NF NEWS EXCLUSIVE

SHORTS: REPUBLIC TO GET SAY!

BY OUR BELFAST CORRESPONDENT

THE GOVERNMENT is preparing to give the Irish Republic a say in the running of Shorts, the Belfast-based aircraft and missile manufacturers, as proof of its commitment to the Anglo-Irish Agreement. National Front News can exclusively reveal. The plan being discussed by British and Irish civil servants and senior management at Shorts is bound to encounter fierce resistance on the factory floor. All Ulster loyalists must recognise it as an unacceptable sop to Irish and American politicians who have consistently criticised aspects of the firm's recruitment procedures.

Shorts was earmarked for privatisation next year but it is understood by the National Front that the government has privately conceded that the recurring high losses sustained by the company's aircraft and aero-structures divisions have rendered these totally unattractive propositions to would-be buyers. Instead, it is planning to allow joint British-Irish funding of the firm as a means of strengthening cross-border industrial and economic ties agreed in the run up to the Hillsborough betrayal .

Shorts chief executive, Sir Phillip Foreman, is a prominent member of various non-statutory groups dedicated to improving trade between the two parts of the island, and his company and the Irish national airline, Aer Lingus, have, with the approval of their respective governments, already initiated a co-operative venture in the aero industry by establishing a new design and component manufacturing company, Devtec, which will be based at Dublin airport.

Recruitment advertisements for the new plant were placed in British Trades' Union journals and southern Irish newspapers last autumn and Shorts executives have secretly travelled south to interview prospective employees. Although the initial response has been described as 'disappointing', we have learned that Shorts is prepared to offer some of its engineering staff lucrative contracts in Dublin to oversee the establishment of the new factory.

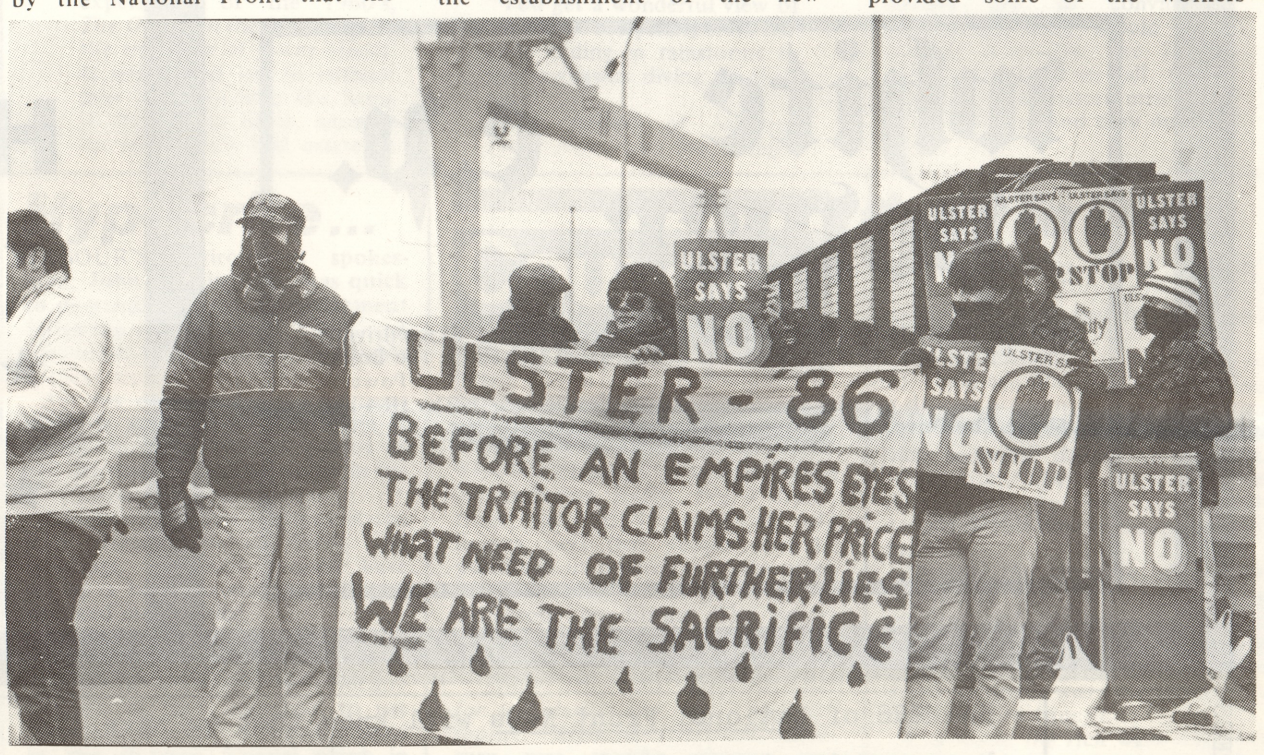
Under the plan presently being discussed, Devtec would be wholly financed by the Irish government but it would in return expect to receive a substantial portion of the off-loading of Shorts aero-structures work particularly from the Fokker wing and V2500 projects which are long-term contracts. The new company would, as a risk sharing partner, have access to all aspects of Shorts activities – including sensitive military work – and its financial backer would have an input in general policy and contracting decisions.

Aer Lingus already operates a small fleet of Shorts SD3-30 and 3-60 commuter aircraft and sources within the Belfast complex say they are about to place a further order for up to four new planes. This would ostensibly be to furnish new routes, but it would also help Shorts recoup some of the £20 million losses it has announced on its SD3 programmes.

The Irish government is anxious to press ahead with the plan even though it would impinge upon its stance of political neutrality. However, the real motivating factor behind its enthusiasm is the fact that Shorts' 7,000-strong workforce has consistently been to the forefront of the industrial opposition to the Anglo-Irish deal and has provided some of the workers' muscle behind the recent one-day strikes.

Gaining economic and political leverage in such a strategically important Ulster company would enable the Dublin administration to claim a significant victory for the deal and would allow it to exert further influence in Ulster's affairs.

NF News readers will recall that it was the Irish government that repeatedly stabbed Britain in the back during the Falklands War. The sheer folly of allowing such a deceitful neighbour a say in any aspect of this Nation's defence is something we, and our servicemen in particular, could well regret.



Workers from Shorts demonstrate against the Anglo-Irish Agreement with their comrades from Harland Wolff outside the East Belfast Shipyard.

NF LAUNCH FRONT AID

SEFTON NATIONAL FRONT have decided to institute a programme of Front Aid.

Front Aid would initially operate in Liverpool's town centre and Pier Head area to help relieve the suffering of the destitutes who frequent the city's streets. It would provide cigarettes, hot drinks, biscuits and some sort of protection to fight back the winter weather.

Front Aid exists to help the thousands of poor British people forced onto the streets by poverty, and the many thousands of young and old people faced with the problem of ever increasing gas and electricity bills.

Talking about their decision to launch Front Aid, Sefton NF told National Front News:

"It is about time that our own people were given the political support that they expect from the people they elect. Politicians frequently spend too much time crying crocodile tears. It is about time to have our own relief for the employment famine created by the Tories".

Locals wishing to help out Front Aid should write to Sefton National Front, P.O. Box 89, Liverpool, L69 6AH.

THOUGHT FOR THE MONTH

"Your country is desolate, your cities are burned with fire: your land, strangers devour it in your presence, and it is desolate, as overthrown by strangers."

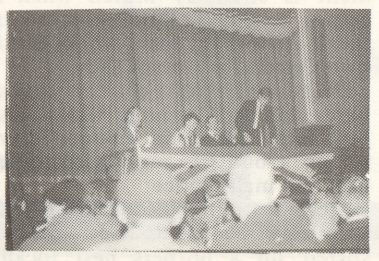
JOE PEARCE CAMPAIGN REPORT

Chatham Pubic Meeting

300 Asians and students from all over Kent tried to breach the police lines to stop the National Front 'Defend Free Speech' Meeting.

More than a hundred NF members from South-East London packed Chatham Town Hall to hear speeches exposing the denial of freedom of speech to the National Front. Ian Anderson (left), Dave Gobell (centre) and Sid Campbell (right) support NF Chairman Martin Wingfield (bottom right) in calling for the British public to demand freedom of speech.



Civil Liberties Demo.

30 NF members from North-East London hold a torch-light vigil to picket a civil liberties meeting at the Friends Meeting House. Hackney Organiser, Lee Ashton (right) and others were drawing the attention of the meeting to the plight of Joe Pearce.

Kingston Outdoor Rally

120 National Front members from South-West London make their way to an open air 'Defend Free Speech' rally on the steps of Kingston Town Hall.

ALERT FROM M.O.D. MOLE

THE NATIONAL FRONT'S National Administration Office in Norwich recently received anonymous information from a source within the Ministry of Defence.

The information stated that "a Norwich firm is aiding the foreign military occupation of Britain."

The firm – HG Lomax & Son, Builders and Contractors, of School Lane, Sprowston, Norwich – is engaged in constructing Blast Proofed and Lead Lined doors for the American nuclear base at Molesworth, Suffolk.

The doors are also being painted with an unknown solution, which is assumed to be toxic, as the information stated that the painters were issued with special protective clothing and masks.

The whole operation is being conducted in great secrecy. The materials and finished products are arriving and leaving the Lomax premises in unmarked crates.

The National Front has always called for the removal of all foreign troops and missiles from British soil. We believe that the defence of Britain should be left solely in the hands of the British people.

The USA is no more our ally than is the USSR. We have no quarrel with the ordinary people of America or Russia. Our quarrel is against the evil Internationalist and Imperialist States of the USA and USSR.

The USA has already largely destroyed the cultures and traditions of the Nations and the peoples of Europe. The USA and USSR have physically divided – and are occupying – the Eastern and Western Nations of Europe. Now they are prepared to destroy us in a possible nuclear war which will be limited to Europe, but which will have nothing to do with Europe.

The National Front deplores the co-operation of HG Lomax & Son in this. With the manufacturers of radiation-proof doors, the US occupation forces are taking the possibility of a nuclear war, limited to Europe, very seriously.

More Antics from the LABOUR LOONIES

HACKNEY Labour Party loonies have picked a drug smuggler as their candidate in Rectory Ward for the council elections this May.

Mr. Seray-Wurie was jailed for four years in 1978 for bringing in from Sierra Leone two suit-cases stuffed with £23,000 worth of cannabis.

* * * * * *

LABOUR Loonies who control Leicester Council are splashing out £13,650 of ratepayers' money to re-name the Welford Road recreation ground . . . . . Nelson Mandela Park.

£1,000 is to be spent on flying in members of the outlawed African National Congress to the name-changing ceremony.

* * * * * *

LABOUR loonies on Lambeth Council are also changing place names.

Brockwell Park in Herne Hill is now Zephanie Mothopeng Park. Streatham Baths are now Mangaliso Sobukwe Pool and Myatt Playing Fields are now Sharpurji Saklatvala Park.

* * * * * *

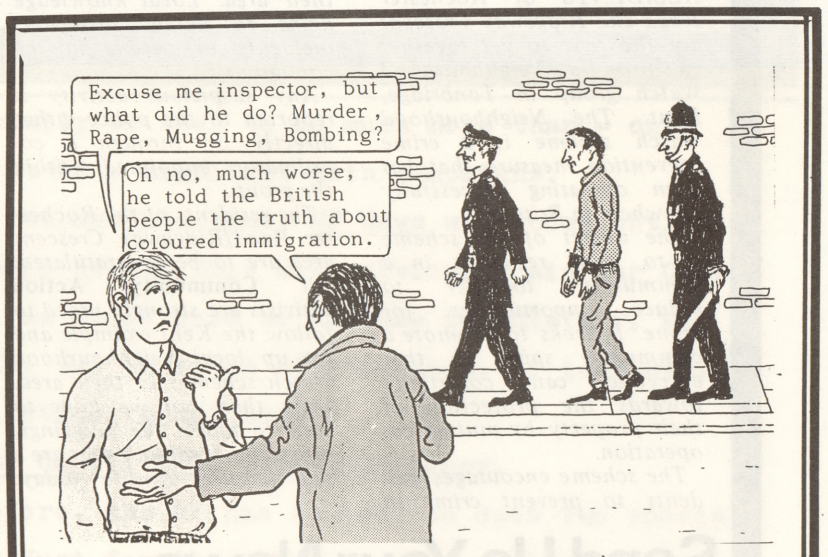
BLACK pensioners are being sent on sunshine holidays thanks to Labour loonies on Camden Council.

£540 will be paid by the Social Services Committee to each black pensioner who wishes to return home for a few weeks this summer.

* * * * * *

BAA BAA Black Sheep has been banned by Labour loonies in North London.

Hackney councillors believe the centuries old rhyme reinforces a derogatory and subservient use of the word black amongst youngsters.



Excuse me inspector, but what did he do? Murder, Rape, Mugging, Bombing?
Oh no, much worse, he told the British people the truth about coloured immigration.

Media Blackout on NF `Sit-ins´

TEN National Front members from Enfield joined with others from various other London units to hold sit-in protests to highlight the NF's campaign to free Joe Pearce. Altogether about 15 NF members staged noisy protests in the Commission for Racial Equality offices in Victoria, the lobby of Broadcasting House near Oxford Circus, and outside the Connaught Rooms in Holborn.

On each occasion the press were notified, but did not turn up, despite expressing strong interest. At Broadcasting House, an attempt was made to bribe the protestors by promising them an interview if they would wait outside. This offer was ignored.

At the Commission for Racial Equality offices, attempts were made by CRE staff to remove protesters by violent means. These attempts were resisted loudly and stoutly. At the Westland rooms – scene of the Westland shareholders meeting – the NF protest was filmed by the BBC.

Despite the total news blackout, Enfield NF Organiser, Paul Nash, declared the sit-in activity a success.

"In each case we made an instant and very favourable impression with the local public, promoting many of them to talk to us and to take copies of Joe's book, Fight For Freedom. In addition, we have learned a great deal about how and where to stage demonstrations like these. Those people who want a quiet life can't stand noisy, spectacular events like these. They are just too upsetting to ignore."

COMMUNITY ACTION

COMMUNITY ACTION is a new addition to National Front News. Hopefully — and with your support — it will become a regular and major feature of the paper.

Community Action seeks to help the National Front sink local community roots. Indeed, we see this as a very small step on the road to establishing a whole series of Nationalist Advice Centres throughout the UK.

We want to expose local council corruption and incompetence; fight closures of local hospitals, factories and schools, and campaign for decent housing and social services for our people. We also hope to carry advice on what you are entitled to in the way of supplementary benefit, health benefit, housing benefit, etc.

If any NF member or supporter thinks that Community Action should focus on their area, then simply send us your community news plus any local press-cuttings. Members of the public who want us to take up campaigns on their behalf, should use the special coupon, printed below. (Please include a stamped, self-addressed envelope, for administrative purposes).

Claim Your Benefit!

SUPPLEMENTARY BENEFIT is a weekly cash payment to people aged 16 and over who are not working full-time and who do not have enough money to live on. It can be paid on top of other benefits (including unemployment benefit), or earnings from part-time work, or if you have no money at all. You can claim even if you have savings, but not if you have more than 3,000. You automatically get various health benefits; free school meals, and if you are a tenant, help from the council with your rent and rates. If you are an owner occupier, you get help with your rates. If you are buying (or own) your home you may be able to get help with your mortgage interest, insurance and maintenance costs. You may also get lump sum payments for special needs.

FAMILY INCOME SUPPLEMENT is a weekly cash payment for people in full-time work who are bringing up children on low wages. Self-employed people can also claim. Full-time work means at least 30 hours a week for one of a couple, 24 hours if you are a lone parent. The amount you can get depends on your family income and how many children you have.

HEALTH BENEFITS. People getting supplementary benefit, housing benefit supplement or Family Income Supplement also automatically get free prescriptions, free glasses, free dental treatment, help with hospital fares, and free milk and vitamins for expectant and nursing mothers and children under 5.

Help Prevent Crime

RESIDENTS of Rochester Road and Ridgeway Crescent are the first to get together to form a Neighbourhood Watch group in Tonbridge, Kent. The Neighbourhood Watch scheme is a crime prevention measure that has been operating successfully elsewhere in Britain.

The object of the scheme is to bring residents in a community together to reduce opportunities for crime. It seeks to promote a community spirit so that everyone can contribute towards the protection of their property by mutual co-operation.

The scheme encourages residents to prevent crime in their area. Local knowledge helps to detect suspicious incidents or people in the community.

Any suspicious activity is reported to the police either directly or through a co-ordinator appointed within the group.

The residents of the Rochester Road/Ridgeway Crescent area are to be congratulated. All Community Action activists are strongly urged to follow the Kent example and set up local Neighbourhood Watch schemes in their area. Only then can we hope to start to tackle the muggings, rapes and break-in's that are a sad feature of life today.

THE GUARDIAN likes to portray itself as a paper with a social conscience. This 'quality' paper represents the trendy and 'intellectual' end of the liberal-left media. Every day it is full of middle class twits advising us to 'Bash the Fash', 'Boycott South Africa', contribute to Band Aid, and all the rest.

Despite many good and accurate reports, it still remains anti-Nationalist and anti-British in tone.

WORKING CLASS

But, above all, The Guardian maintains a pretence of 'championing' the cause of the working class – despite the fact that most workers enjoy the 'Tits and Bums' offered by the voice of Tory reaction, The Sun.

However, despite The Guardian's 'concern' for the working class, every so often the mask slips. And when it does, we see The Guardian for what it is: Full of Hampstead 'radicals' who use the paper to vent their White, middle class, guilt complexes.

SAVAGE

An excellent example of this happened recently in the paper's Society Tomorrow feature on high-rise housing.

Readers expecting a savage condemnation of high-rise housing were in for a shock. Instead of pointing out the evils of the trendy – but inhuman – 'stack a prole' experiment of the 1960's, The Guardian meekly accepted the existance of tower blocks. It even went on to enthuse over a couple who like living in their tower block, situated on the World's End estate, in fashionable Chelsea's West End.

Quoting the couple – Bernadine Lawrence and Paul Carroll – The Guardian explained why living in a tower block is so great. "The Barbican is home to high court judges and lords and ladies. And there are lots of smart private flats in tower blocks in central London. The difference is very simple: the income of those living in them. If you spend money, first on building good blocks, then on maintaining them and having hall porters and carpets on the stairs, the problems would vanish."

INFEST

Well, it's alright for the lords and ladies who infest the Barbican. They use their money to buy their way out of the mess. They don't have to suffer the indignity of unemployment. And they aren't subjected to 3, 4 or 5 day 'Blues' parties or the continual noise of 'ghetto-blasters'. (That's another story however – one that you'll hear from the few Whites left in Handsworth or on Tottenham's Broad Water Farm estate. It's also a story that you won't hear from the media – especially in The Guardian.)

ADVANTAGE

Another advantage – according to The Guardian – of living in a tower block is that: "You get a wonderful view of wildlife – everything from seagulls gliding in rainstorms to sparrowhawks diving on their prey".

Any readers of National Front News who live in high-rise housing should be relieved by this. For next time you're clearing up after another burglary or if you're still waiting, five months on, for the local council to come along and repair something, just take a look out of your window and admire the seagulls and sparrowhawks.

The article continued on in a similar vein, much of it too absurd to repeat here.

INHUMAN

So there we have it. By its acceptance of the inhuman concept of high-rise housing, it is clear that The Guardian's 'concern' for the working people is non-existant. Its 'social conscience' is a sick joke.

The politicians and planners have replaced the back-to-back slums of yesteryear with the high-rise slums of today. Meanwhile the media – and especially The Guardian – tell us that its 'trendy' and 'fun' to live in these slums. By their actions, the papers consign thousands of working folk to live and die in these tower blocks.

FLEET STREET

It's clear then, that The Guardian is no better or no worse than the rest of the rubbish that spews out of Fleet Street. Whether the papers print blatant lies, like The News of the World, subtley try to convince people that they should be content with life, like The Guardian, they are all the same. They all distort, misrepresent and lie. And they must all go.

Hypocrite...

LABOUR'S environment spokesman, John Cunningham, was quick to demand a government statement following the recent lack of plutonium nitrate at the Windscale nuclear reprocessing plant.

But his concern for the environment is strangely muted when it comes to the pollution record of the Marchon chemical works in his own Copeland constituency.

Emissions fromthe chimney stacks have damaged whole fields and buildings. Copeland council have set up a body to monitor carelessness and malpractice.

Albright and Wilson (UK) Ltd, who own Marchon, have recently stirred up a hornets nest locally because of their intention to use dimethyl sulphate, a chemical used at the ill-fated Bhopal plant in India.

So what does John Cunningham have to say about that? Not a lot. And the reason is not difficult to find. A quick look at the register of MP's business interests tells us the name of Albright and Wilson (UK) Ltd's industrial relations advisor. No prises for guessing it's John Cunningham!

Council Prisons...

YOUNG PEOPLE in council homes are suffering badly. For a report from the DHSS, based on 149 homes, says that people over 13 years old in council care are often living in dingy, shabby, cold and dangerous conditions. The report also criticised a severe lack of staffing.

"Some bedrooms were too cold for use during the day," said the report. "Lighting was poor, furniture was shabby, broken and inadequate. Many children were sharing chests and wardrobes, and adult-sized children were sleeping in small beds."

These are the homes, according to the Tories, that provide security and care for young people suffering at home. Instead, without staffing and with bad conditions, they are just like prisons.

LEAVE them to die of the cold. That is the Tory government's attitude to old people who can't pay their fuel bills.

The government is leaving it to the discretion of local officials whether or not they pay out extra cash to help meet increased fuel bills incurred during cold spells.

Last year 173,000 old people died directly of the cold or through accidents and illness brought on by the cold.

Leaving the decision about the allowances to local officials is random and barbaric. During the recent freezing weather only a few areas – mainly in the south – decided that it was cold enough to pay the extra benefit.

And while the rich were enjoying the last of the skiing in Scotland, none of Scotland's old people were entitled to any aid against the freezing temperatures.

It just goes to show that there is one law for them – the Tories – and one law for us – the ordinary British people. And the plight of our old folk shows that the Tories just don't care about the ordinary British folk.

EUROPE OF THE PEOPLES

IN this article, Ian Stuart, the jailed lead singer of the Nationalist rock band Skrewdriver, sets out the NF's alternative to the Common Market. Our idea – known as a 'Europe of the Peoples' – combines the ideal of some form of European Unity with respect for individual National Sovereignty.

If anybody would like to submit their comments to Ian on his article, he would be glad to hear from you. Please write to: L25818 Ian Stuart, HMP Wayland, Griston, Thetford, Norfolk, IP25 6RL.

TODAY, Europe is at its lowest ebb. The Common Market creates suspicion and dislike amongst its member countries. This ridiculous situation is dividing a former great area of world importance.

If the Common Market was an institution that created closer ties within Europe, it wouldn't be tolerated by the Superpowers. As it is, both the USA and Soviet Empire must be sitting back, doubled up with laughter as petty squabbles split any aspiring hopes of European unity.

NATIONALISTS

The only spark of hope for Europe (and fear for the Superpowers) is in the ever increasing number of people flocking to European Nationalist Movements. And the Superpowers realise that Nationalism is the only threat to their seemingly unbreakable hold over European freedom.

Eventually, when Europe as a whole demands freedom, we can start to create a viable alternative to both Big Business and Marxism. When this happens, Europe will indeed be a far better place to live in.

Mutual respect, strength, honesty, and pride in the New European Order would be the lessons taught to future generations. I think that video's of the multiracial, drug-ridden, Capitalist countries – and the appalling suffering of the people in Communist-occupied countries – would be enough to warn people about the true extent of these two evils.

PATRIOTIC

In a 'Europe of the Peoples', care would be taken to ensure that National festivals and patriotic historical events, are celebrated. For example, our own St. George's Day, St. Andrew's Day, St. Patrick's Day and St. David's Day would be National holidays, the same way as the Izerbedevaapt with its 'No More Brother Wars' theme, is celebrated in the Flemish-speaking part of Belgium. These days would be ones of Patriotism and National Pride.

FUTURE

We would have a future in a 'Europe of the Peoples'. People would no longer be just looking after No.1. And uncertainty would be just a thing of the past. We would be heralding the start of a New Era. An era of peace, prosperity, pride, and, above all, hope. This would be a New Dawn of greatness for our 'Europe of the Peoples'. Indeed, it would be a great Victory, worth both fighting and dying for.

ANC Speaks

ON THE night of Friday 7th March, the Plymouth Branch of the Anti-Apartheid Movement held a meeting in Swarthmore Hall, Mutley Plain, Plymouth. They had a guest speaker from the African National Congress (ANC).

Plymouth NF

The recently reformed Plymouth Group of the National Front attended this meeting, led by Plymouth Organiser Ken Libby and South-West Regional Organiser, Mark Cotterill.

Heckled

All through the meeting the dozen NF supporters heckled the ANC speaker who attempted to justify the bombing of innocent people by his Marxist/terrorist organisation.

.....

Scuffle

Although very lively, the meeting remained peaceful with a heavy police presence only called upon once to break up a scuffle after a Front supporter was punched by one of the meeting's stewards.

Reports

Reports of the NF activity made South-West T.V., Plymouth Sound Radio, the Sunday Independent, the Western Morning News, the Western Evening Herald and The Devon Times and Gazette.

BESIDE THE SEASIDE

INTIMIDATION BY forty Labour Party thugs failed to stop a day of action by Brighton and East Sussex NF activists in the seaside resort of Hastings.

The day of action was called in response to the go-ahead given to local Muslims to convert a building in one of the town's residential areas into a mosque. While a team of activists put out a leaflet calling on the people of Hastings to defend their British identity another team sold NF News at the Queen's Road junction in the town centre.

Brighton NF Organiser, Caralyn Giles, getting support from Brighton activist Ian Taylor.

SCUFFLES

It wasn't long before the Labour supporters who had been selling the paper Militant also in Queen's Road called for reinforcements, and soon the NF paper-sellers were under siege. Scuffles broke out as the Labour thugs reassured by their seven to one advantages tried to snatch a number of NF News from Brighton organiser Caralyn Giles and punches were exchanged as Darren Copeland and Ian Taylor saw off the attackers.

Police were soon on the scene and as they argued with the Labour thugs, NF activists carried on selling to a very interested Hastings public.

Nearly 50 copies of NF News were sold in just under an hour, no mean achievement in an area where the National Front haven't been seen for seven years.

With 500 leaflets also given out, all in all the day was a great success and special mention for their courage shown must go to ex-serviceman Fred Baker, leading East Sussex activist Allen Boyce, Sussex YNF organiser, Tony Berry, as well as to Caralyn, Ian and Darren.

Lords debate NF

SOUTH–WEST Regional Organiser Mark Cotterill will no doubt be interested to know that the leaf-letting efforts of his members in Devon got a mention in the House of Lords on March 13th.

Labour Peer, Lord Underhill, warned of the increase in activity of the National Front with NF leaflets being handed out all over the country, he told the Lords,

"One of my own grandchildren in a quiet little area of Devon was subjected to having a leaflet handed to him, along with others, going to a comprehensive school in Devon".

The National Front was being discussed in the Lords during a Local Government Bill which made it illegal for a local authority to "publish any material which, in whole or part, appears to be designed to affect public support for a political party."

Underhill and his Labour cronies were trying to get an amendment passed which would make the NF an exception to the ruling. But quite rightly the wily old Tory Peers smelt a rat. If an exception to the rule was made for the NF, how long before the looney Labour Councils would be making more exceptions and using ratepayers money to attack the Tory Party and the Alliance.

The amendment to the Bill was thrown out!

National Front: A Political Party? DENNING and Co. IN NO DOUBT

"We have had the National Front before the courts in a case I heard. It is certainly a political party with a certain amount of support. None of us might like its objectives, but it is beyond doubt a political party. The case arose in Great Yarmouth. The National Front through its proper organisations, arranged for a conference in Great Yarmouth and booked a hall. The local authority allowed it and arranged its meetings. Afterwards, owing to some influence behind the scenes, the local authority revoked its decision and said that the National Front could not hold its conference in Great Yarmouth. They came to the court over which I presided, and there was no evidence to suggest that there would be violence or disorder of any kind. We said that the council must implement its promise and must allow the conference to be held for this political party.

There, my Lords, is the case showing beyond question that the National Front is a recognised political party.

LORD DENNING.

"I agree with the noble and learned Lord that the National Front, whether or not we like it, exists. Who are we to say that it should not exist? I, personally, do not like its views, but that is neither here nor there."

BARONESS FAITHFUL.

"The National Front are, so far as I know, legal."

LORD GRIMMOND.

". . the National Front, which is, in fact, a political party, . ."

LORD PITT OF HAMPSTEAD.

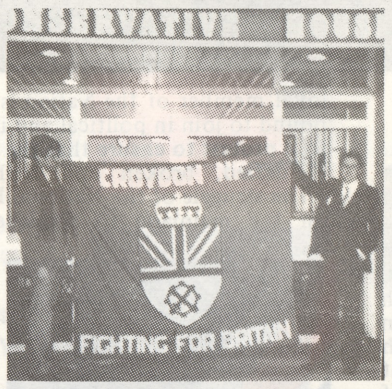
". . the National Front has established its status as a political party . ."

LORD BOYD-CARPENTER.

"But it is right, as noble Lords have reminded the House this afternoon, that the National Front is a lawful body and it can within the law continue to carry out its activities."

THE LORD ADVOCATE (LORD CAMERON OF LOCKBROOM).

Front meet at Tory Office



NF Deputy Chairman, Nick Griffin, lends a hand displaying the Croydon NF banner outside the local Tory Party Head Quarters.

RESEARCHERS for the BBC programme Panorama would have had a field day if they had been able to attend the Annual General Meeting of the Croydon Branch of the National Front.

It was in January 1984 that its programme alleged that the NF was infiltrating the Conservative Party, and now, here was a National Front branch holding its AGM in a Conservative Party headquarters!

Yes, the venue for the Front meeting was the Tory H.Q. in Tavistock Road, Croydon, where 60 local NF members elected a new committee to guide the branch through 1986.

The meeting was informed that the local branch had been advised by the Croydon Council that they cannot see any reason why the NF couldn't hold private meetings on council property, while in June there was a council meetingon whether Croydon Library should take National Front publications.

Paul Ballard was introduced as the NF candidate standing in Waddon Ward in May.

The main speaker of the evening was NF Deputy Chairman, Nick Griffin, who spoke on the progress the National Front was making in Ulster.

*The new Croydon Committee comprises of P.J. Higgs (Chairman), Dean Thomas (Organiser), Dawn Majors (Treasurer), Stuart Manners-Smith (Secretary), Gavin Hall (Publicity) and Adrian Woods (Literature).

General Election Campaign Trail

CONSTITUENCY NO.2 WORTHING, WEST SUSSEX.

ON THURSDAY 20th March, National Front Chairman Martin Wingfield was adopted as the NF's prospective parliamentary candidate for Worthing in West Sussex at a meeting of the local branch.

In his acceptance speech Mr Wingfield said that he was very confident of substantially increasing on the 0.5% he polled in Worthing in the 1983 General Election.

"Over the last two and a half years the fortunes of the National Front have taken a turn for the good. In Worthing the local NF organisation is infinitely bigger than it was in 1983 with many welcome recruits coming from the British National Party who fielded a candidate against the NF in that election."

LOTS OF TARGETS

Later in question time Martin Wingfield would not be drawn on the subject of how well he expected to do.

"We have a lot of targets to aim at", he said, "Improving on our last vote, improving on the 893 polled in 1979 and of course chasing the magic figure of 5% which would mean a saved deposit!"

A fund-raising social was then announced for the 12th of April, the proceeds of which to go to the Worthing General Election Fund.

What on earth are they doing here?

THE Commission for Filipino Migrant workers has just asked Kensington Council for a £10,700 grant to study the plight of Filipino workers. It is estimated that there are 15,000 – 20,000 Filipinos working in Britain mainly in hotels and hospitals.

The Commission claims that some of these immigrants are doing as many as four jobs a day and that some of these jobs are threatened by the privatisation of hospital cleaning and catering services.

The question that has to be asked is: 'What on earth are 15,000 – 20,000 Filipinos doing, living and working in Britain?' The Philippines have never been part of the British Commonwealth and these workers were brought in during the 1970's when we were all being told that immigration had been curbed.

GAIN

If these unwanted immigrants were immediately repatriated the British people would gain anything upto 50,000 jobs and 10,000 flats and houses – worth in financial terms about £500 million in the first year.

In the case of those Filipinos who have only been here for a few years and whose families are mainly still in the Philippines there is simply no reason why most of them shouldn't go back home within the next three months.

FIGHT BACK FOR BRITAIN!

15p

ISSUE 76

ULSTER MUST FIGHT!

ULSTER STANDS AT THE CROSSROADS. It's clear that Thatcher won't back down. She is determined to implement the Anglo-Irish agreement and hand Ulster over to Eire – a bankrupt state set up by IRA gunmen and used as a safe base by Republican murderers ever since.

It's obvious that Ulster loyalists will never get a fair hearing or fair treatment from Thatcher. It is time to face facts. If we want to preserve our unique British identity, we now have no choice but to break with the "British" State. The only alternative to Dublin rule is Independence.

PEOPLE

Thatcher's refusal to take notice of the massive vote by Ulster people against her betrayal has confirmed that she wants a confrontation with loyal Ulster. Faced with the success of the "Ulster Says NO" campaign, she and Tom King have responded with the taunt that "Ulster cannot go on saying 'No'. The loyalists must say 'Yes' to something."

This totally ignores the fact that Ulster has repeatedly said "Yes" – "Yes" to complete integration within the United Kingdom. Ulster loyalists have never asked for any special treatment, we have simply asked to be treated exactly the same as any other part of Britain.

THATCHER

But successive governments have refused to do this and such an ideal solution is no longer an option. Thatcher is determined to force the Anglo-Irish agreement on us and her rejection of democratic protest shows that she wants to give Eire control over our land and lives. With the Labour and SDP/Liberal Alliance parties also in favour of a United Ireland, it is time to face the fact that integration within the U.K. is no longer possible.

FACE REALITY

So more and more Ulster folk are having to face reality. The choice is no longer whether or not to remain in the U.K. The only choice that remains is to accept rule from Dublin or become independent.

In order to retain our British cultural and political identity, in order to remain part of the British Nation, we must take on and defeat the British State. The first duty of any government is to protect its citizens from foreign take-over. Any government that fails to do so – or in Thatcher's case actually encourages such betrayal – is itself guilty of treason. Such a government loses all right to rule and its subjects become duty bound to oppose it.

NATION

We must understand that "State" and "Nation" are two very different things. And that the Nation is the one that matters. It is more than just the sum of its individual citizens. It includes their land, their culture, their past history and future aspirations. It includes the generations who had worked and died for their country, and the generations yet to be born. The Nation is eternal, its right to exist is absolute.

The State, by contrast, is nothing more than the temporary organisation created to run the day-to-day affairs of the population. Today this ruling body is made up of politicians, the financiers and Big Businessmen who buy them, media controllers and careerist officers in the security forces.

OPPOSED

In a healthy society the interests and aims of the Nation and the State are identical. Today they are totally opposed. Look at the destruction of British industry in the interests of multi-national capitalism. Look at the importation of 5 million unassimilable Coloured immigrants into mainland Britain. Look at our betrayal. The message is obvious. The British State is at war with the British Nation – our own rulers want to destroy us. Under these circumstances every loyal member of the Nation is duty bound to join in political and industrial protest to ensure that the State is defied, broken and replaced.

The struggle of the National Front on the mainland to displace the rulers who have done so much damage to Britain still has many years of hard work and sacrifice before it ends in victory.

But we in Ulster already face the final battle. One way or another, the future of Ulster will be settled within a few months. The choice ultimately rests with us – the people of Ulster. Will we bend the knee and allow our identity and freedom to be taken from us? Or will we defy those who would betray us and establish through our own efforts the right to rule ourselves and determine our own destiny?

NATIONAL FRONT

The National Front, in Ulster and on the mainland, knows where it stands. Are you with us, or will you betray your birthright? When we come to power on the mainland, the National Front will welcome Ulster back into the British family of Nations. Our door will always be open. But if Ulster is to survive until then we must break with Thatcher and Co. and take control of our own future.

The struggle will not be easy. Thatcher will threaten to wreck what she hasn't already destroyed of Ulster's economic base. The multi-national companies will threaten to pull out and close down their factories. Our own industrialists will join in the chorus of doom and seek to sell-out our birthright for the sake of their profits.

SITUATION

But the true situation is very different. Thatcher knows that Britain cannot afford to have Ulster collapse in chaos even if she is forced to concede self-government. The impact on Britain's international reputation would be too great and the risk of the resulting unrest spreading to mainland cities is more than any British government would dare take. Rather than face such things, Westminster will be willing to negotiate a settlement with an independent Ulster and pay to get out of an otherwise inescapable mess. Security forces controlled by Belfast government would smash the IRA in weeks. As for the multi-nationals and other big companies, our message to them must be clear: any attempt at the economic sabotage of Ulster's fight to exist will result in the expropriation of all their assets here. The factories would then be handed over to the workers andmiddle management to be run as producers' co-operatives.

IMPORT BAN

Restrictions on the import of foreign manufactured goods which could be made in Ulster would provide the home market base our factories need to thrive. The British government will happily provide contracts for new ships at Harland & Wo'ff in exchange for military bases and listening posts to cover the north Atlantic. Our farmers, free at last from the terror of IRA gunmen would be able to get on with the job of feeding our people.

There is little doubt that, after a few lean years, an Ulster economy run in the interests of the entire population of Ulster, instead of for the benefit of foreign companies and a few big bosses, would in fact provide a far better standard of living for us then we have at present.

NATIONAL SURVIVAL

In the final reckoning, however, the question of living standards is unimportant next to the question of national survival. The only question to be asked today is "can Ulster survive?" The answer can be "yes" – but only if we work together with one aim. Party differences and old rivalries must be laid to one side. We must show our determination to control our own governmental structures; our own economy; our own media; our own transport systems and our own streets. It is not enough to prevent Thatcher & Co. from controlling these things, we must work together to control them ourselves and keep them running in the service of every person in Ulster. Their government machinery must be isolated, ignored and left powerless. But our government machinery must be set up parallel to it.

OUR LAND

It is not enough to withdraw consent and stop Thatcher exercising power in Ulster. We must exercise it ourselves. We do not want anarchy, we want self-determination. It's our land, we must run it for our own people.

Ulster's survival demands hard thinking and resolute decisions from all of us. The NF is working hard to put over the Loyalist case on the mainland, but we all still have a long way to go.

At this darkest hour of danger and despair, the light of Ulster's dawn is already drawing across the sky: ULSTER WILL FIGHT – AND ULSTER WILL BE FREE!
